COMPIT Business Game

With COMPIT Business Game, participants will step in the shoes of a Manager, responsible for a whole process from design to production: R&D, logistics, quality, procurement, supply chain.

Objectives:

- Improve product competitiveness and create value of the company
- Control risks
- Manage internal resources and suppliers

Participants analyse, diagnose, decide on which strategies and action plans to implement. They have 28 levers for action. Each action costs time and financial resources. These resources being limited, they have to make thoughtful choices. They see the results of their decisions in real time.

They must take into account Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR), short lead time production constraints, etc. As in real life, if they do not manage well their risks, incidents happen... The success depends on a good methodology, prioritization and an optimal combination of actions.

The future managers understand how their job, its strategies and its specific levers of action fit into the process. They understand how they can and should collaborate with suppliers and other functions in order to be more competitive together.
